Jack Frost Pays Visit; Mercury At 31 Degrees

Old man winter is here. And Jack Frost was much in evidence Wednesday morning.

With the thermometer dropping to 31 degrees, a new low for the year, all vegetation was covered with a heavy blanket of frost Wednesday morning resembling a young snow.

But with the drop in the temperature to one degree below freezing, it was clear and old Sol helped start the thermometer rising, and the Weather Man predicted warmer weather for Wednesday and Thursday.

The frost caused no damage to crops, according to Jack McCullough, County Agricultural Agent. He said this cold, clear weather is beneficial to farmers who are finishing the perepartion of their land for the planting of winter grain. Farmers, who are gathering the remainder of their cotton and corn, also welcome this kind of weather, he said. The mercury went to 32 degrees Thursday mornnig.

Seriousness Of War Is Theme Of Armistice Day

The seriousness of war and the grave danger America again faces since the Armistice was signed 23 years ago, was forcibly brought out by Ex-Service men, who addressed the Armistice Day patriotic meeting held in the District ourtroom here Tuesday.

With Capt. J. A. Benton serving as Master of Ceremonies, splendid addresses were made by County Judge H. H. Neilson, Hugh Kirkpatrick and Paul Wilson, who represented the Jimmie Geigas American Legion Post and the Lone Star Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, under whose auspices the meeting was held. Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, Pastor of the First Christian, opened and closed the meeting with prayer.

Mr. Wilson, in his talk, described his experiences during World War No. 1, when he served with the A. E. F. in France and he and the other speakers called attention to the fact that those who were buried in Flanders Field are now surrounded by a German army that is sweeping Europe and an army far more vicious than the one defeated in 1918. They declared that this country must speed up its defense program and must rush all aid possible to Britain, Russia and China.

The courtroom was packed with men and women and many times during the addresses the speakers were interrupted by storms of applause and cheers.

A half hour concert was given before the meeting by the McKinney High School Band, directed by Prof Stewart Jernigan. The room was beautifully decorated with American Flags.

Before and after the patriotic meeting ,officers and members of the American Legion conducted a Kangaroo Court on the Public Square and hundreds of "Victims" were arrested, found guilty and fined by Capt. Tully B. Lucas. The arrests were made by Legionnaires, who served as Legion Police, and who made no distinction between men and women. Everyone they saw was arrested and thrown into the "concentration camp," a wire enclosure built for the purpose. Everyone had a grand and glorious time .

Credit for the great success of McKinney's observance of Armistice Day goes to every officer and member of the two military Posts, Roy L. Brockman being Commander of the Legion Post and C. A. Carter Commander of the VFW Post.

The government is making an urgent appeal for more milk for National Defense imediately, and the quickest way to get a substantial increase in production is by feeding plenty of feed in the right proportion and by giving proper care and management to the cows. Festive 'Fixin's' For The Feast

Golden brown, stuffed and tender—ideal of all good cooks—the Thanksgiving turkey emerges from the oven in its familiar enameled roaster. Now it is ready for the final festive "fixin's" preceding the grand entrance to the dining room. Apply this final gala touch, as shown, while the turkey rests in the convenient inner pan, or rack, of the enameled roaster, or in the roaster itself. It's a deserving tribute to a perfectly cooked bird.

Young McIntyre and father on span

Disheartened by a squabble with his wife, Edwin McIntyre, 25, of Pittsburgh, climbed up the 70-foot high superstructure of the Sixth street bridge which spans the Alleghony river and warned rescuers to stay away from him. Edward's father, Leroy McIntyre, a city fireman, was called. He climbed the ladder, as pictured by circle at right, appealed to the son and the youth finally agreed to come down the ladder. The two are shown at right after the episode.

Opportunities Made Known By Civil Service

The United States Civil Service Commission has just issued three more examinations for positions in the Civil Oeronautics Administration. Flight supervisors are needed to inspect the equipment, personnel, and facilities of flight contractors, report on Civil Air Regulation violations and aircraft accidents, and to perform other duties. The positions pay $3,200 and $3,800 a year. Ground School Supervisors will be appointed to superintend the ground training operations of the Civilian Pilot Training Program. This includes ground curricula, training methods, facilities, and equipment. These positions pay $2,900 and $3,500 a year. Assistant Airway Traffic controllers maintain a check on the movement of all aircraft within a control area. The salary for these jobs is $2,300 a year. The requirements for all these positions are specific and rigid inasmuch as they deal directly with the safety of human life. Applicants are sought whose experience, training, and personal qualifications will contribute to the establishment of safe and efficient service. Applications may be filed until further notice.

The Commission has also announced an examination to fill a librarian position in the technical processes division in the Library of the Department of Agriculture. The salary is $3,800 a year. To qualify for this highly technical job, applicants must have completed appropriate college study and have had supervisory experience in technical library work. Applications must be filed not later than December 4, 1941.

The Commission has just reissued its examination announcement for inspectors of naval ordnance materials, covering positions paying from $1,620 to $2,600 a year. Appointments are being made at the Washington (D. C.) Navy Year, Naval Torpedo Station in Alexandria, Va., and at various contractor plants in the field. The need of the Navy Department for Junior Inspectors $1,620 a year, is particularly pressing. The requirements for this grade have been modified so that the successful completion of an appropriate approved National Defense Training course will be acepted as meeting the full requirements. Applications will be accepted until further notice.

All applications must be sent to the Washington office of the Civil Service Commission. Full information as to the requirements for these examinations and application forms, may be obtained from E. P. Skelton, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the Post Office in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first or second-class post office.

Red Cross Roll Call In Progress In City, County

The Red Cross drive is under way. About a hundred prominent McKinney ladies and almost as many men started out Thursday morning on the drive. The city is being canvassed, house to house, in a determined effort to raise McKinney's quota for this worthy cause.

A number of men and women were calling on personal friends Wednesday afternoon to get an early start and by noon Thursday the response had been very gratifying, reports Earl Walker, Roll Call Chairman for this city, who urges everyone to give to the limit of their ability as the Red Cross this year needs more than ever before in its history. "We simply must reach our part of the goal of 2,925 members in Collin County," said Mr. Walker. "and I feel confident that we will."

The women's division is being directed by Mrs. Roy Caldwell and Mrs. Jack R. Ryan as Co-Chairmen. They have divided the city into zones and the more than four score of women are systematically canvassing the residential districts.

In the busines district Jim Cantrell, as Chairman, is directing the work by the committees of men. Julius Smith and Marvin Colline are handling the advertising and Don W. Bagwill is Publicity Chairman. Red Cross posters bearing appeals to the public are in all of the windows of McKinney stores and offices and everything possible is being done to bring the Red Cross before the people.

G. D. Ledbetter, Chairman of the Keyed Business Committee, with Jack Warden, A. H. Embanks and Alfred M. Scott, Jr., are calling on those establishments.

The drive will continue until the city goes over the top, declared Chairman Walker.

Prof. W. S. Smith, County Red Cross Chairman and also County Red Cross Roll Call Chairman, has taken all material to workers in the county, preparatory to beginning the drive, and is confident the county will do its part in this worthy drive again this year.

Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Ryan, Co-Chairmen of the women's division, announced the appointment of four Zone Chairmen, who selected their district and block groups, who are now waging their campaign. The four are: Mrs. Don O. Davis, West part of city; Mrs. W. C. Dowdy, North part; Mrs. J. W. McKinney, East part, and Mrs. Lula Robison, South part.

Churchill Pledges Great Britain Aid In U. S.-Jap War

Winston Churchill, in a broadcast Monday, announced clearly and without hesitation that if the United States became involved in war with Japan, Great Britain would declare war on Japan within an hour and their entire fleet and a large part of their air force would be in the Pacific assisting America.

He said the United States had taken control of the Atlantic so wel lthat few British war ships were needed in that ocean now. In addition to a large increase in the air force in the South Pacific, Great Britain is sending some of her best battleships to Singapore.

Mr. Church intimated that Britain today is about ready for a broad offensive against the axis and their first step might be to drive on North Africa and then proceed into Italy. Already the British have proven their superiority in the Mediterranean over the Italian fleet and air force.

The Japanese Government, which is sending an envoy to Washington to "try and bring about an amicable settlement of the controversy between Japan and the United States, charged by radio Monday night that Great Britain and America were planning to control the Far East, either diplomatically or by force." Little hope is held out for an agreement with Japan when the Nippon envoy presents his demands to the United States as to its policy in the Far East.

Being more accustomed to the rigors of winter than the invaders, the Red forces took the initiative Monday and their counter attacks, especially by air, were said to have forced the Germans back in several sectors near Moscow and Leningrad, and even in the Crimea, the Soviets claim, very little headway was made by the nazis.

McKinney High Lions To Meet Arlington Team

The McKinney High Lions, under the able coaching of J. W. (Swede) McMurray and his assistants, are putting in some hard practice this week in preparation for their conference game with Arlington High at Newsome Stadium here Friday night. Coach McMurry says the lads were complimented in being matched against one of the strongest high school squads in the State, last week, and while they lost, 34-to-0, they put up a real fight.

With the Arlington team, the story likely will be different, from all indications, and as his will be a conference game, the Lions will put up a real battle.

The High School Band and Pep Squad will be there to keep the players filled with pep and fight and with good weather the largest crowd this season is expected at the Stadium.

Tickets to the game will be on sale Wednesday and Thursday at the two High Schools and downtown drug stores. Prof A. A. Alexander, Business Manager of Athletics, is predicting a large attendance at the game.

According to a dispatch from Arlington, that team will bring their band and Pep Squad and there will be a lively time between halves Friday night.

Modern Plant Of Collin County Produce Company

McKinney has an industrial enterprise that few people know much about. It is the modern plant of the Collin County Produce Company, operated by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Armstrong.

At this particular time of the year the plant has been exceedingly active in preparing and shipping Thanksgiving turkeys to Northern and Eastern Markets. With a daily capacity of 4,000 turkeys, the plant on East Louisiana Street operates very similar to a modern factory turning out automobiles or machine tools, with an assembly line and everything else needed for mass production.

Only the lack of a sufficient number of pickers forced the company last week to send hundreds of turkeys to Fort Worth to be picked and cleaned and shipped, but at that the plant turned out about 1,600 turkeys a day last week.

"We expect to have plenty of pickers for the Christmas season," said Mr. Armstrong, "and our shipments to the North and East will be much larger."

Two features of the plant are of special interest. One is the newly invented turkey picker, an odd-looking device resembling a large drum, with rubber gadgets protruding outward and placed about an inch apart. The turkey is held close to the machine as it revolves and off comes the feathers faster than a dozen men could do the job.

After this is done, the individual pickers remove all of the pin feathers.

Slowly moving chain conveyors take each turkey around the plant. First it is skinned with a knife as quickly and painlessly as possible ,then the conveyor takes it to a large vat of boiling water, where it is scalded. It then goes to the automatic picking machine. After the turkey leaves there expert pickers clean it entirely of pin feathers as it moves along on the chain conveyor. All the time the birds are being sprinkled with automatic water sprays and when they finally reach the front of the plant, they are clean and perfect, just as you see them in the retail stores.

The turkeys are packed in crates, loaded on trucks and hauled to the freight depot where they are placed in refrigerator cars and shipped to market.

The turkey industry is worth many thousands of dollars to Collin County farmers annually.

Feed And Seed Loans Available To Collin Farmers

Seed loans are now available to Collin County farmers. Applications for these loans are received each Monday in the office of County Agricultural Agent Jack McCullough. 'announces J. L. Berry, Field Supervisor for the Emergency Crop Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration. Mr. Berry comes up from Dallas every Monday for the purpose of, receiving these applications and interviewing farmers.

It was announced by W. E. Farwell, Regional Manager of the Dallas office, which administers these loans, that the loans are being made available earlier this season to meet the emergency caused by short crops in certain areas and to permit early preparation of the land.

These loans, Mr. Berry explained, will be made only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain the money from other sources. The money loaned will be limited to the cash requirements necessary for the farmers to prepare the land, plant and cultivate the 1942 crops. Borrowers will give as security a first lien on the crops financed.

These loans, known as "seed loans" have been made in Collin County for the past ten years and the Dallas officials, said Mr. Berry, fully appreciate the splendid attitude of Collin County farmers toward their obligations.

The agency is also cooperating with the Extension Service in a campaign fostered to cut cotton stalks early in an effort to control boll weevils still multiplying at this time in the green cotton leaves, Mr. Berry explained.

Lions Entertain Ladies At Annual Program In City

By MRS. FRANCES STOGDILL.

"What American Industries Are Doing in National Defense" was the subject of an informative address by R. C. Rancier, of Dallas, at the Lions banquet Tuesday evening. The occasion was the Twenty-First Annual Ladies' Night Hallowe'en Party, held in the parlors of the First Christian Church. The ladies of that church served the delicious dinner, which consisted of turkey and all the trimmings.

The tables were arranged with attractive and festive decorations of black and yellow streamers while favors were noisemakers, whistles and serpentine. Mixed bouquets of fall flowers including marigolds, chrysanthemums, zinnias and hardy asters, were placed at intervals along the tables.

Dr. C. J. Hicks, Sr., Pres. of the Club, presided over the meeting. Preceding the dinner Morris Wallace led the Lions and their ladies in singing "God Bless America." The invocation was offered by Rev. Richard L. Klein, Pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church.

Throughout the dinner hour peppy tunes were played by Margaret Cowan, pianist, Tommie Carr and William Dowdy, cornetists. Favors for the ladies were attractive vanities.

Dr. Hicks called on each Lion to introduce his guest and give the nature of his profession or business, after which he turned the program over to Lion Leo Spillman, Master of Ceremonies.

Toast To Ladies.

Lion Wallace was asked to give the toast to the ladies, which he did in a clever, complimentary way. He began with the first woman "Eve," whom he described as the first business woman, the first to recognize that styles needed to be changed, gave the first lesson in practicability, first lesson in husband management, and the first lesson in "passing the buck." He explained that the attributes of women are too many to describe, but told of the outstanding characteristic of some famous women including "Helen" for her beauty; "Cleopatra" for her personality, "Catherine of Aagon" for her magnetic appeal, "Venus" for physical beauty; "Minerva" for wisdom "Pandora," "Circe," and others. His final tribute was to the ladies of today as God's last, but best work, who still inspire men.

R. C. Rancier Speaks.

Toastmaster Spillman paid merited tribute to R. C. Rancier, who is Manager of the Southwestern Drug Company, of Dallas, for his traits of Christian character and citizenship. After brief humorous remarks, Mr. Rancier delved into his address on National Defense stating that America produces more than many believe. In part he said, "This is a time for clear thinking and straight talking about National Defense." He spoke of the present war in Europe and urged further preparedness on the part of all Americans, stating that other countries faced the facts of preparedness too late and were thus taken by Hitler. "We can remember a great object lesson from France" he continued, "who seemed secure, but like other countries went down under the rule of the agggressors. We must utilize our industries necessary for the defense of our freedom. We can not take freedom for granted as we have for the past century and a half. We have seen the freedom of countries swept away by tyrants. No nation can feel secure against aggression and not since the fall of the Roman Empire have people known the insecurity as today."

According to the speaker we have attained the highest standards of living the world has ever known, through our enterprises. But now we will have to give up those things that make life easy and turn to the preservation of the system that gave them to us in the past. "Our land is the mother of mass production," at which point he explained the many manufacturing plants which are turning from the making of typewriters, machines, lawn mowers, toy trains and numerous other items, to the manufacture of ships, airplanes, tanks, and other defense machinery and materials. Nylon is being used to make parachutes where imported silk was formerly used and powder bags are now made from cotton lisle material.

He said "Dictaors and Historians will be amazed at what Americans can produce during this crisis," stating that in the past year we have produced more than Hitler did in seven years, but that is not enough.

Mr. Rancier also discussed the strikes which have held up defense orders and expressed his hope for a wholesome change.

Concluding this splendid address Mr. Rancier stated that while we live in a land of liberty and freedom, we need implements of war but we also need a love of liberty. He quoted President Lincoln and suggested that "we dedicate ourselves to the great task before us, that our nation shall maintain its heritage, and that its Government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not perish from the Earth."

The annual party came to a close with all singing "I'd Rather Belong to the Lions" and prayer by Dr. R. L. Cowan.

Musical Education Is Taken To Ward Schools Of City

Carrying musical education to the L. A. Scott Junior High and the Ward Schools, Prof. Stewart Jernigan, Director of the McKinney High School Band, is organizing a Beginners' Band and is now giving regular instructions to forty-four students. They are being taught in classes at the High School practice room and in addition to the separate classes, the entire group meets each Monday and Thursday afternoons. Each student has one other special period each week, says Prof. Jernigan.

Owing to the activity of the Band Parents, who raised money last year to buy instruments for the High School Band, several horns are left over and these are available for the beginners, said Prof. Jernigan. Several instruments are also being supplied by the Texas Textile Mills, of which Frank W. Smith is Superintendent.

Prof. Jernigan has been giving these younger students instructions since the beginning of this term and is hopeful of perfecting a Beginners' Band in the near future that will be capable of giving public concerts. The more apt young musicians will doubtless be moved up to the High School Band as soon as they can qualify, but it is the intention to keep the Beginners' Band intact. In other words, as Prof. Jernigan explains, it is intended to have two public school bands.

This subject has been frequently discussed at meetings of the Band Parents, and the members are enthusiastic over the idea.

The personnel of the beginners' musical organization and the instruments they are playing follow:

Cornets: Robert Sutherland, Jimi Thomas, Billy Earl Raley, Roy McLeod, Bill Ed Clifton, John Gay, Dickie McFerrin, Dorrell Murray, Windle Brown, Donna Gene Deal.

McKINNEY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1941.

With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right.—Abraham Lincoln.

Great minds have purposes, others have wishes. Little minds are tamed and subdued by misfortune; but great minds rise above them.—Washington Irving.

Life would be a perpetual flea hunt if a man were obliged to run down all the innuendoes, inveracities, insinuations and misrepresentations which are uttered against him.—Henry Ward Beecher.

If we wish to be just judges of all things, let us first persuade ourselves of this: that there is not one of us without fault; no man is found who can acquit himself; and he who calls himself innocent does so with reference to a witness, and not to his conscience.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL.

There could be no better evidence of the humanitarian ideals of the American people than our unique voluntary national organization, the American Red Cross. For sixty years, in war and in peace, at home and abroad, it has carried succor to those in distress and has labored to improve health and safety conditions for all our citizens. As part of its charter obligation, it renders invaluable service in connection with the welfare of the men in the armed forces and their dependents. Through its field directors at Army posts, its Home Service in the Chapters, its medical social and recreation workers in the military hospitals and in many other ways, including first aid and life saving instruction for men in uniform, the Red Cross has become a vital part of our Army.

It should be the duty as well as the privilege of all American citizens to give the Red Cross whole-hearted support through membership, by enrolling through the local Red Cross Cnapter, in the period from November 11 to 30. —Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

THIRTEEN MILLION SNIFFERS.

This is the season of the year when the so-called common cold begins to increase in prevalence. Just now, during this present week, a survey shows an estimated 13,000,000 persons in this country sniffling and sneezing, coughing and complaining. So it would seem that almost any time of the year, except in the heat of summer, one out of every ten Americans suffers from this commonest of maladies.

To the layman a cold has always been the most inscrutable of mysteries, while to science and the medical profession it remanis as much a challenge as ever, says Grit. We have succeeded in wiping out plagues and conquering many dangerous diseases. But the common cold remains as much of an enigma as ever. Its virus has never been seen, therefore no effective remedy has ever been devised.

One fact that should not be overlooked is that the common cold is the most contagious disease known to man. It is frequently the forerunner of serious maladies. So the best thing to do when you fall a victim to this mysterious disease is to go to bed three or four days and break it up, rather than let it run its course for ten days or two weeks as you crawl around and endanger everybody who comes in contact with you.

KURUSU MISSION.

If the dove of peace is presumed to be nestling in the baggage of Saburo Kurusu, the special envoy from Japan now on his way to the United States, the Japanese inability to understand the American position must be fully as great as our own inability to see eye to eye with Nippon in its conception of its world mission, says the Dallas News. The United Press reports the "informed quarters" at Tokyo as agreed that Kurusu is to make clear that the Japanese Government will not retreat from its pledge to carry through the conflict in China to a successful conclusion and to go forward with Japan's plan for a co-operating bloc of East Asian nations.

This program presupposes an impasse in negotiations. For while the democracies have no intention of intervening arbitrarily with arms in the Pacific, they will continue to enforce an economic blockade so long as Japan adheres to the policy which envoy Kurusu is not empowered to assert will be abandoned. To adopt any other course is to arm Japan for the move southward and eastward, which the democracies seek to prevent.

It is generally agreed in Washington that an attack on Russia by Japan would not force a war issue with Britain and ourselves, because of the comparative unimportance of Vladivostok. But a move south, which is certainly indicated in the UP's phrasing of a pledge "to go forward with Japan's plan for a co-operating bloc of East Asian nation," would in all probability mean war.

We have no wish to war with Japan. But appeasement of Japan is at an end because Japan's course has shown conclusively that every concession of an inch means that Nippon will demand the mile. Conclusively, we are not going to arm and fuel Japan for its continued war on China or such further adventures as the Japanese militarists may feel their manifest destiny calls them to undertake.

Of all virtues and dignities of the mind, goodness is the greatest, being the character of the Diety; and without it, man is a busy, mischievous, wretched thing.—Bacon.

Either make the tree good, and his fruit good; or else make the tree corrupt and his fruit corrupt; for the tree is known by his fruit.—New Testament: Matthew 12:33.

It hain't no use to grumble and complaine;
It's jest as cheap and easy to rejoice.
When God sorts out the weather and sends rain,
W'y rain's my choice.—James Whitcomb Riley.

We must first be made good, before, we can do good; we must first be made just, before our works can please God—for when we are justified by faith in Christ, then come good works.—Latimer.

Christians must not be afraid even in the face of this insane generation. If we could only stop for a while and look up at the stars, we could find the right trail again. Christianity's chief message to the world today is "Be Not Afraid." Across the hills the night before Christ was born the heralds were singing that refrain. All during his life, Christ used those three words until they have become our chief heritage now.—Bishop Arthur J. Moore, Methodist Prolate, Atlanta, Ga.

STIFFER DRIVING TESTS.

Newcomers to Texas and youths who have reached the age when they are permitted to drive automobiles are discovering that this State has a new driver's license law with teeth in it, says the Denton Record Chronicle. Those who received driving permits under the 1935 law won't have to undergo the series of new driving tests, but any serious accident or other indications that the individual is a poor driver may bring a demand that the indivdual pass the new driving tests.

Driving an automobile on a public highway is a far more hazardous undertaking than it was in 1935 when the old driver's license law was passed. The legal speed limit has been raised and highways have been made wider and smoother. Furthermore, automobiles are faster, and quicker, more accurate reactions to road hazards are required from drivers. It is a protection to the other drivers that the new driving tests are stiffer than those in effect in previous years.

When the new driver's license law is in full operation, the right to operate an automobile will be considered a valuable privilege, not to be taken for granted. Careless drivers, poor drivers and drivers who disregard the rights of others on the highways and streets are liable to find themselves denied the right to drive their cars. Furthermore, the young drivers who pass the tests required to get a license will be well acquainted with the code of the road, as well as know how to handle a car.

MORE BEAUTIFUUL HIGHWAYS.

The entire State will watch with interest the efforts of supporters of roadside development in Dallas to make of its new $1,000,000 Hines Boulevard a beautiful scenic drive, largely through the elimination of unsightly signboards along that thoroughfare, says the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Hines Boulevard is the new modern highway which is a principal artery from the north and Love Field into the heart of the business section. It passes through a territory of natural beauty, which civic-minded Dallasites hope will not be marred by ugly roadside signs which also obstruct the view of the landscape. In efforts to make Hines Boulevard a scenic drive, the proponents of roadside development are seeking the co-operation of property owners along the highway. The appeal to property owners offers the strong argument that higher value of property along a scenic drive will more than offset the loss of billboard rentals. The point is well taken that property is worth far more for real estate development than for its use for hamburger stands, filling stations and roadside resorts.

In this all-important program of highway beautification throughout Texas, there should also be the enlightened, selfish co-operation of those commercial interests which invest heavily in billboard advertising. The litter of unsightly roadside signs detracts from their advertising value, in some instances constitutes a traffic hazard, and the signs are an aesthetic affront to many people. There still will be enough places for outdoor signboards after restrictions are in effect upon highways that pass through rural sections of natural charm.

Texas has such an abundance of scenic beauty visible from many of its highways that the natural asset should not be spoiled by short-sighted commercial concerns. Many other states are fast eliminating the signboard nuisance and the campaign in Texas is belated in comparison with the progress made in those other states. Property owners along our highways and commercial concerns who have favored roadside advertising should join in this important movement for a more beautiful Texas.

SAME BOAT.

The recent announcement of a plastic automobile suggests that the time may not be far distant when cars will be made entirely of products grown on the farm, says the Gainesville Daily Register. When that happens, harvest time may come to mean a bumper crop of limousines.

The idea is not so fanciful as it might at first appear, for already many farm products are changed into industrial articles. Through the magic of research casein from milk becomes wool and also a plastic material. Corn is used in making glycerines and dry ice, cornstalks in making paper. Sugar cane goes into building boards; soy beans into paint, enamel and linoleum. One large chemical company alone buys 16 million pounds of cotton, 36 million pounds of cotton linters, and 36 million bushels of corn from farmers each year. As industrial research finds new uses for farm crops, industry will depend more and more on agriculture as a source of raw materials.

And agriculture, in turn, will depend on industry for more inventions like radios, telephones and labor-saving machinery that have made the farm a much pleasanter place to live than it was a generation ago.

Because the two groups provide markets for each other's products, the prosperity of the one depends on the prosperity of the other. Past experience has shown that when industry is making money, too.

Facts like these prove that here in America, we've all got a stake in each other's future. We may work in different parts of the country at different jobs. We may have different likes and dislikes. We may be divided into various groups—industrial employes, farmers, doctors, lawyers—but in the long run we're all in the same boat.

And today we've all got to work together to solve our common problems. We've got to work together to check inflation, finance defense, prevent unnecessary government controls on our freedom—in short we've all got to work together to insure our continued prosperity in the years to come.

Eleven Italian Craft Sunk By British Ships

Greatly outnumbered by an Italian Naval force, a British warship patrol dealt a crippling blow at a convoy taking supplies to the axis armies in Northern Africa early Sunday. The British annihilated two convoys, singling ten transport vessels and one destroyer and badly damaging one other ship. With a 10,000-ton cruiser and Italian destroyers fully double the number of the British, the British force of two small cruisers and two destroyers, came out of the fight without a scratch, reported the British Admiralty.

The British forces were guided to the Italian convoys by American built planes, which spotted the convoys South of Taranto and were taking supplies to the axis armies in Libya.

Paris High Team Defeats McKinney By Score Of 34-0

By ZANE ANDERSON.

Coach J. W. (Swede) McMurry's fighting lightweight Lions went down in defeat Friday night, when they met the Paris High Wildcats at Noyes Stadium, in Paris, by a score of 34-to-0. It was a non-conference game.

Although the Lions were greatly outweighed in the line, as well as in the backfield, they put up a great fight against the Paris eleven, which was led by Baty and Sheffield.

In the early moments of the first quarter, Woods, who was punting for the Lions, got off a poor punt, and Coker of the Wildcats starter their first touchdown drive from the McKinney 36 yard line. Baty and Sheffield plunged through the Blue and Gold line for a first down on the 12 yard line after several plays. Then Sheffield went around the McKinney right guard for the first touchdown. Baty kicked the extra point, making the score 7-to-0.

Baty carried the pigskin over the McKinney goal line for two more touchdowns during the first quarter and kicked one of the extra points. The Paris coach sent in several of his second string men to relieve Baty, Sheffield and several of the linesmen.

The McKinney Lions threatened to score during the second quarter, when Hamilton threw a 30 yard pass to Heathington who ran 30 more yards, putting the ball on the Paris 13 yard line. But some of the first string linesmen and Baty returned to the game at this point to stop the Lions from making the touchdown.

Baty tried several passes early in the third quarter, completing one to Ashmore for 36 yards, who went over for the fourth touchdown. Early in the last quarter, Baty completed one of his bullet passes for a short gain to Hudson, who went over for the last touchdown of the game. The Paris coach put in the second string after this touchdown, and the Lions played up and down the field, neither team threatening the other's goal line.

Hamilton's short passes seemed to be clicking with Chapman, Haynes, or Heathington usually on the receiving end. The Lions completed two long passes, one for 30 yards, and the other for 60 yards. Baty completed only four passes.

Woods played an excellent game for the Lions Friday night, plunging through the Paris line for gains at all points of the game but he could not do much against the Wildcats, because of the weight in their line. Barton and Gibson were the two outstanding players in the Paris second string men.

The Lions fought hard all durin the game, but were greatly out-powered by the Wildcats. The McKinney team, as well as the fans, are looking forward to the game next Friday night, when the Arlington High team invades Newsome field.

Ward School Teams Meet At Newsome Field

Injured Treated In Hospital After Highway Accident

Garvice Mobley, 36, employe of Cabell's Inc., of McKinney, who was seriously injured in an automobile collision Thursday night on Highway 75, two miles North of Van Alstyne, is still under treatment in a Sherman hospital Saturday. His co-worker, Charles A. Burton, 31, who was driving the car and who was killed in the crash, was buried at Decatur, his former home, Saturday afternoon.

Three others were badly injured when a gasoline truck, going North, and the car driven by Mr. Burton coming South, collided.

The others injured were Mrs. C. B. Tyler of Dallas, Max Walters, a young man of Houston, and Mrs. Mable Brown Burleson of Cincinnati, Ohio. The latter two had been picked up on the highway and were riding in the cab of the truck with Mr. and Mrs. Tyler. Mr. Tyler was not injured. The others are all in a Sherman hospital under treatment.

Confederate Veterans Called To Reward
(An Editorial)

Death, Thursday, claimed two of the four remaining Confederate Veterans living in Collin County, when L. J. Gainey, pioneer resident of Chambersville, and G. M. Edwards, pioneer McKinney citizen, were called to their reward.

Proof of their long and worthwhile existence in this world, is shown when one recalls that the combined ages of these two veterans totaled 191 years.

Even as they passed away on the same day, their lives, each stretching out beyond nine decades, bore many similarities. Mr. Gainey, 94, was a native of South Carolina, growing into young manhood in that State and enlisting in the Confederate Army when 15 years of age. A native of Kentucky, Mr. Edwards enlisted in the army of the South when 17 years of age. Both served under the Confederate Flag for the duration of the war.

Soon after the close of the war between the States, their fortunes brought both these estimable citizens to Texas, and to Collin County. Mr. Edwards came to Texas and to McKinney in 1874, and three years later Mr. Gainey came to this State, settling first at Weston, later moving to Cnambersville, where he had since resided.

Both were men of courage, fortitude, and of strong convictions, proved by their volunteering in the army of the South even when mere boys. It was Texas' and McKinney and Collin County's gain when they migrated here soon after the close of the Civil War. That they liked their new surroundings was proved by their spending the rest of their lives in this city and county, raising fine families of worthy sons and daughters.

Mrs. Gainey passed away in 1895; Mrs. Edwards in 1924.

Both Mr. Gainey and Mr. Edwards were public minded, liberty loving, church going men, Mr. Gainey holding membership in the Chambersville Methodist Church and Mr. Edwards belonging to the King Memorial Baptist Church in McKinney.

It was to honor these and other veterans of the Civil War that the Collin County Confederate Veterans' and Old Settlers' Picnic and Reunion was established many years ago. These two honored men enjoyed nothing better than to come here on the opening day of the picnic and reunion, ride in the parade and enjoy the dinner annually given them by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

These papers join with the relatives and host of friends in mourning the loss of these two veterans and extend sympathy to to those who are saddened by their going. They were on this old terrestial sphere for many years. Their memory will linger long, and their estimable, worthy lives will serve as an inspiration for those who follow after them.

McKinney and Collin County have just cause to feel proud of their achievements, their high ideals, and will treasure and revere their memory for many years to come.

U. S. Marine Corps Recruiter Will Visit McKinney

In keeping with the latest Marine Corps policy, of making the U. S. Marine Corps available to young men of a greater area, a representative of the U. S. Marine Corps recruiting service will open a temporary recruiting office in the post-office at McKinney on Thursday of each week for the purpose of accepting applications for enlistment.

Men accepted will be furnished transportation to Dallas for final examination and enlistment the same day or on any succeeding Thursday and from there sent to the U. S. Marine Corps Base at San Diego, California, for a seven weeks period of training. After completing this training they may request assignment to any of the various branches of the Marine Corps.

Aviation, radio, parachute troops, tank units, sea duty and many others are available. Here in the United States men may also request enrollment in any of the corps vocational schools, of which there are 17 at present.

To be eligible for enlistment, one has only to pass a normal physical examination, be single, have no dependents, and have a grammar school education or its equivalent. All young men between the age of 17 and 30, including those who have registered for selective service, are urged to see the recruiting officer while he is in or near your city, and learn of the many advantages offered by the Marine Corps.

The regular enlistment is for a period of four years, or you may enlist in the Marine Corps Reserves, with active duty, for the duration of the emergency only.

Mrs. Levi Dunn was honored with a surprise birthday dinner at her home at Weston Sunday. George Jenkins Of Celina Speaks To Rotary Club

McKinney Rotarians heard a splendid address on "The Indespensible Farmer" by George Jenkins, of Celina, at the weekly luncheon of the McKinney Rotary Club Friday noon. He was introduced by Jack McCullough, County Agricultural Agent. President Lyman D. Robinson presided.

"The farmer has always been a good fighter," Mr. Jenkins said, mentioning George Washington as America's first fighting farmer, and tracing the progress of the United States as an agricultural country. "Even today," he said," the farmer must continue to fight for his rights, and while this country has grown and expanded as an industrial nation, the farmer is still indispensible, and even more so right now when he has to help feed, not only America, but the world."

Mr. Jenkins, who is active in the Collin County Farm Bureau Federation, told of the splendid work which has been done by that organization throughout the land. Citing cotton in Collin County as an example, Mr. Jenkins pointed out what it has meant in dollars and cents to this county for the Farm Bureau to fight for a higher parity on cotton. Up to October 18, he said, 32,400 bales ginned in this county had averaged $75.00 per bale, or a total of $2,430,000.00. Up to the same date last year, he pointed out, 55,000 bales had been sold at only $45.00 average, or $2,475,000.00.

Had this year's crop been on the 1940 parity, he said, the income to Collin County farmers would have been only $1,458,000. In other words, he concluded, Collin County is $972,000.00 richer this year as a direct result of the fight for higher parity put up by the Farm Bureau Federation.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Davis of Sherman are the proud parents of a sweet baby daughter, born Saturday evening at the McKinney City Hospital. Both perents formerly lived in McKinney. Mr. Boyd was introduced by Paul Wilson, Service Officer of Jimmie Geigas American Legion Post, who arranged for the meeting and acted as Master of Ceremonies.

County Judge H. H. Neilson introduced the Selectees to their sponsors and explained the purpose of the "Your Friend" Club which he originated to keep Collin County boys in touch with their home communities while in training camp.

The meeting was opened and closed with prayer by Justice of the Peace Clyde Doyle.

Patrolmen Will Be In McKinney Twice Each Week

Johnny Ownby of Sherman, examining patrolman of the drivers' license division of the Department of Public Safety, who spent Tuesday in McKinney receiving applications for drivers' licenses at hearings held in the County Court room, announced that hereafter similar examinations will be held twice each week in McKinney. For the convenience of Collin County motorists, he said, two examining patrolmen will be here Tuesday and Thursday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Drivers' licenses held by Collin County motorists numbered from one to 450,000, serially, expire December 31, 1941, and are renewable on or after October 1, 1941.

Licenses numbering 450,001 to 900,000 expire March 31, 1942, and are renewable on or after January 1, 1942. Licenses numbered from 900,001 to 1,350,000 expire June 30, 1942, and are renewable on or after April 1, 1942.

Mr. Ownby said that there were few Collin County licenses numbered under 450,000. Supply of blanks is limited. He suggests that motorists in this county wait until after the first of the year to make applications. Then all that is required is to get a blank, fill it out and mail it, with 50 cents, to Austin. Examinations are not necessary, he said.

28 Applications Turned Down For Drivers Licenses

Twenty-eight out of thirty-seven applications for drivers' licenses were rejected by two examining patrolmen of the Department of Public Safety, who spent Thursday in McKinney holding examinations.

The applicants were first questioned on the State Traffic Laws and were given driving tests. They were instructed to study the traffic laws and come back for another examination later.

It was anonunced that motorists who lose their present drivers' licenses will be required to take examinations hereafter to obtain new ones.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. When will the "drive" to sell Defense Savings Bonds begin?

A. There will be no "drive." Many people think of the Defense Savings Program as like the Liberty Loan campaigns of the first World War, which were conducted for stated periods to raise specific quotas. The Defense Savings Program is a long-range, continuing effort to stimulate the public to buy more and more Defense Bonds and Stamps month by month, and is essentially a program to promote mass savings, as well as to provide money for defense.

Q. Are the Defense Savings Stamps sold at retail stores exchangable for Defense Savings Bonds?

A. Yet. They are the same as Stamps on sale at post offices and elsewhere.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or white to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

Q. What is the Treasury's underlying thought in avoiding a pressure campaign to sell Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps?

A. The belief that the American public is anxious to aid to the limit in defense of the Nation, and also wants to save money for future needs, especially since such savings will help to keep down the cost of living.

Q. Should I buy Defense Savings Stamps at retail stores rather than at post offices and banks?

A. Buy stamps wherever it is most convenient. The important thing is to purchase Stamps as often as you can, and exchange the completed Stamp album for a Defense Savings Bond.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps are now on sale at retail stores.

Q. In a payroll-allotment plan, is an employee committed to purchase any stated amount of Defense Bonds—say, $100, $300 or $500 worth?

A. No. The payroll-allotment plan is part of the voluntary Defense Savings Program for encouraging the public to save systematically. An employe may drop out of a payroll-allotment plan at will. There is no compulsion.

Q. Where are Defense Savings Stamps on sale?

A. At post offices, most banks, savings and loan associations, great numbers of stores. Look for the sign: Defense Savings Stamps on Sale Here.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps are now on sale at retail stores.

Q. Who said: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country"?

A. Nathan Hale, who gave his life for America, like great numbers of his fellow countrymen. We are only asked to lend our dollars for Defense Bonds and Stamps to defend the liberty for which they died.

Q. Where I work there is no pay-roll allotment plan for the buying of Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps. How can I get one started?

A. This depends on your position, and the kind of organization in which you are employed. Generally speaking, your immediate superior would be the proper person to receive your suggestion that you would like to have a vouluntary pay-roll allotment plan introduced. The firm's bank can supply information about such a plan.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

Q. What are payroll allotments for the purchase of Defense Savings Bonds?

A. They are portions of employee earnings set aside each pay day voluntarily by individual workers for buying Defense Savings Bonds, or Stamps to be exchanged eventually for Bonds, which become the personal property of the employe. Hundreds of companies have set up such arrangements to help their personnel save continuously and regularly.

Q. How can I give a Defense Savings Bond as a gift?

A. Buy a Series E. Bond at your post office or bank, and have it issued in the name of the intended recipient.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps are now on sale at retail stores.

Will Sawyer, about 85 years old, well known McKinney colored man, who spent many years in this city, coming from his native State of Tennessee, died Sunday night at his home on North Chestnut Street. RED CROSS DRIVE.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY Frank Knox, speaking of the Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, says:

"Wherever our Navy flies the American flag, the banner of the American Red Cross is found. From the Southern Pacific to the Arctic, in both oceans, representatives of this wide-flung humanitarian organization of our citizens, today are carrying on its mission of friendly service.

"No man on any ship or station is so remote that he or his family can not be aided through its traditional service to the naval forces.

"The need for all of the Red Cross organized services to the public is increasing with the expansion of our national defense preparedness measures.

"To every American there is given at the time of the Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 30, the opportunity to join the roster of this democratic institution, which for sixty years has carried on its unbroken record of service. It should be a matter of pride for every citizen to enroll as a supporting member under its banner.

SCHOOL LUNCHES.

WITH SCHOOLS IN PROGress in this city, county and throughout the State, and the daily routine well established, the question of school lunches that will be adequate and attractive and will help to keep the growing boy or girl up to the mark mentally and physically, is of special importance. But the child's growth and development are helped or hindered by various other things in a child's daily program.

Here are some of them as outlined by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer:

"The average school child needs from 10 to 12 hours of sleep each night. A tired child is a nervous, irritable child who finds it hard to concentrate. Does your child have a bedtime that is early enough to insure an adequate amount of sleep?

"Teachers complain that many of the children find it necessary to eat part of their lunch in the middle of the morning. A hungry child does not make a good student. Does your child have an adequate breakfast before he leaves for school?

"A hot food in middle of the day prevents fatigue and stimulates the appetite. If there are no provisions for hot food at school, the teacher should place a jar of food brought by the child in a pan of water to be heated and served at lunch time. Does your child have an adequate lunch, one which includes a hot dish."

Mrs. F. M. Warden of this city calls the attention of everyone who wants to have a part in the Thanksgiving Day offering to the Juliette Fowler Home, that the McKinney offering will leave here the latter part of this week. The offering is made annually by the First Christian Church and friends, and for several years Mrs. Warden has served as Chairman. Quite a few gifts of fruit and clothing have come in, and Mrs. Warden urges all those who want to have a part in this offering, but who have not yet contributed, to bring their gifts to her home as early this week as possible.

BLUE BACK SPELLER.

PERHAPS NOT MANY OF the younger generation knows anything about the old blue back speller, except by hearsay, yet the old-timers will recall many interesting, vivid experiences of the blue back speller days. And this recalls a poem, written by Thomas S. Hill, of Dallas, a native Texan, who is 90 years of age. He lives at 5311 Reiger, Dallas, and says he would like to be put in touch with some old friend. His poem follows:

I came across a quaint old trunk
Long stored away as attic junk.
Into its depths I cast a look;
Mid all that rubbish there I found
A prize that held my eyes spell-bound—
An old-time, blue back spelling book!

All faded out, its back was worn,
Its pages soiled, ink-stained and torn,
The inert dust from it I shook;
As mem'ry photographed the past
A mystic chain then held me fast
To that old, blue back spelling book!

When mother taught me how to spell,
Those days I now remember well
As in her lap she gently took
And sat me on her mother knees
To teach me first by A. B. C's
From that old, blue back spelling book!

In later years that "spelling-bee"
Imparted zest to pals and me,
To be turned down we could not brook;
Those listed words we had to spell
Were singled out and studied well
From that old, blue back spelling book!

Those days were in the long ago,
When youthful dreams were all aglow
With visions from some floral nook;
Were I to live a thousand years
I'd ne'er forget my old comperes,
Endeared to me through that old book!

Those old classmates, Bob, Jim and John,
And others, too, all dead and gone—
Those haunts, long since, we all forsook;
As savants on some spectral plane
They bid me view my life again
Through that old, blue back spelling book!

ROCKEFELLER CREED.

PERHAPS YOU'VE READ this worthwhile creed many times before, but at any rate we recently ran across the ten fundamental and eternal principles for right living, outlined by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in a public address. As someone points out, they might well be committed to memory in this era of confusion thinking by every American hopeful of making the world a better place in which to live. They form a creed which has guided the present Mr. Rockefeller, as it did his late great father.

Here are the ten articles:

"I believe in the supreme worth of the individual and in his right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

"I believe that every right implies a responsibility; every opportunity, an obligation; every possession, a duty.

"I believe that the law was made for man and not man for the law; that government is the servant of the people and not their master.

"I believe in the dignity of labor, whether with head or hand; that the world owes no man a living but that it owes every man an opportunity to make a living.

"I believe that thrift is essential to well-ordered living and that economy is a prime requisite of a sound financial structure, whether in government, business, or personal affairs.

"I believe that truth and justice are fundamental to an enduring social order.

"I believe in the sacredness of a promise, that a man's word should be as good as his bond; that character—not wealth or power or position—is of supreme worth.

"I believe that the rendering of useful service is the common duty of mankind.

"I believe in an all-wise and all-loving God, and that the individual's highest fulfillment, greatest happiness, and widest usefulness are to be found in living in harmony with His will.

"I believe that love is the greatest thing in the world; that it alone can overcome hate; that right can and will triumph over might."
